Mrs Ambrose's Weekly Update

Dear Parents, Families and Friends,

Well I am not sure how we managed to cram so much into one week but we did!

On Tuesday evening the school choir did an amazing job at the St Piran's eve concert at St John's hall. We joined many other school choirs to put on a brilliant performance. Everyone enjoyed lots of singing, some Cornish dancing, a raffle and of course ended the evening with a great rendition of Trelawny. Thank you to Mrs Preston and well done to all the children in Pensans Choir you earned my Headteacher's Award this week 😊

On Wednesday Porthcurno Class represented Pensans in the St Piran's Furry Dance through town and were supported by Gwithian class and some Y5 helpers who met the dancers in Morrab gardens. The weather was amazing and everyone enjoyed another sing song and a saffron bun when they finished at St John's Hall.

Once back at school the wonderful Kitchen Crew provided a pasty lunch - proper job all!

The whole school celebrated World Book day on Thursday and what a fantastic array of costumes we had. Big shout out again to the Friends of Pensans School who provided all the free costumes for the children - how lucky are we! A big thank you to Mrs Crummay for organising a fun book trail and also the Book Fair after school. It was a real success and it was lovely to see the children buying books and being excited to get home and read them.

As always thank you for all the support from our parents and families who cheered on the children and supported all the events last week.

Enjoy the rest of the weekend - C'mon England!

Niki Ambrose
